International Forum for Journalists: "Russia-Africa. The Way of Friendship and Cooperation"

22.04.2025

The Alpha-Dialogue Centre for Additional Professional Education (Saint Petersburg, Russia), with the support of the Alexander Gorchakov Public Diplomacy Fund, is pleased to announce the upcoming International Forum for Journalists, "Russia-Africa. The Way of Friendship and Cooperation."

The Forum will take place in Addis Ababa, the capital of Ethiopia, from April 22 to 23, 2025.

The International Forum aims to create a broad platform for facilitating interaction between Russian and African media outlets and, most importantly, for fostering new connections. The event will bring together leading journalists from Russia and African countries.

The Forum will feature representatives from prominent Russian media outlets and news agencies, as well as the Russian Embassy in Ethiopia. Participating African media will include representatives from Botswana, Ghana, Guinea, Cameroon, Kenya, Tanzania, South Africa, and Ethiopia.

The Forum program includes analytical reports, a round table for exchanging experiences, and a discussion platform.

In addition to the in-person events, the Forum will also feature online sessions, including the opening project—a teleconference, “The Way of Friendship and Cooperation,” as well as four lectures focusing on Russian-African interactions.

Representatives of media outlets from other countries are welcome to participate in the in-person Forum in Addis Ababa from April 22-23 upon covering their own participation expenses (flights, accommodation, and meals).

To submit applications, please email: center@alfa-dialog.ru

To participate in the online sessions (free of charge), please register at the registration link

The full Forum program will be published shortly.
